

I Think We Have Guests

Jalisa Y.

I believe my family and I have experienced paranormal activity several times throughout the years. The house we currently live in seems to be active as was our previous house. Most of the experiences have occurred the last four years or so. I moved to my current house in October of 2010. The strangest thing that happened at the house I formerly lived in would have to be the TV in my room changing channels and turning on by itself. I think perhaps it is a child spirit because the TV turned on to the Disney Channel, a station I had not been watching on my TV!

My older sister thinks the activity could be attributed to my Grandpa on my mom's side. She believes that because when she was younger, she saw grandpa's spirit standing over her while she was sleeping on the couch in the living room. She says she was very scared at the time. We would hear strange noises in this house, and have even had dishes fall off the kitchen shelf for no apparent reason.

The house we now live in has some strange things too. We have been told it is a sight with civil war history. Our neighbor said she has seen two civil war soldiers at her house. She likes to investigate paranormal sites and seems quite believable. She says she has taken pictures of these spirits and I hope to see them soon. The eerie thing about where we live now is the strange concrete slab that sits in the middle of our back yard. It is about a 6 inch tall square. It has a name on each of the four sides. I have younger brothers who are 9 and 10, and like me, they get very creeped out in that area. It just doesn't feel right to us. Both my brothers have said they feel like someone is standing over them at times when they go bed. My 17 year old sister and mom will hear loud banging sounds coming from upstairs too, when no one else is home. We do not feel threatened by whatever is there, if anything, but I do feel that we may have guests!!
