

“Welcome to Middle School”

End of the Year Activities

Introduction:

Congratulations! You have almost made it through another year of school. Summer break is quickly approaching, and I know you’re all looking forward to well-deserved time off from school. But before you complete this year, you are going to help the upcoming middle school students by compiling a “Middle School Survival Guide.”

Task:

You are going to use a variety of technology applications to create one final product to present to the students entering middle school next year. This is your time to introduce them to the world of middle school through your eyes.

Procedure:

You will complete each assignment, using the descriptions to help guide you, and compile them into a keynote for your final product.

Scoring:

The attached rubric will be used to score your final product.
